Teachers apply NOW for a full scholarship to attend

Family Nature Summits (a national environmental education and outdoor program for families, founded by the National Wildlife Federation) wants to sponsor a teacher educator from California or Nevada to join us at this summer's 2010 Family Nature Summit, July 5-11! See our website at www.familysummits.org to learn more about our program.

Family Nature Summits provide a week-long environmental learning experience for all ages. For 2010, we presently have funding for one full scholarship. We may also be able to offer additional partial scholarships. The full scholarship covers registration fees ($575 per adult) and room and board ($675 per adult, double occupancy) for the selected teacher and one guest. The value of this package is approximately $2,500.00. The partial scholarships cover registration fees for the selected teacher and one guest, a value of approximately $1,150.00. Partial scholarship winners will be responsible for room and board for themselves and any guests they bring. All scholarship winners will be responsible for their own transportation to and from the Summit site.

The scholarship winner will be expected to participate in the full program for the entire week, and at the end of the week to submit a written synopsis of the experience for use in future educational and promotional materials. Program offerings include hiking, fieldtrips to area attractions, classes in art and photography, birding, butterflies, orienteering and presentations on various environmental and nature topics. Many of our faculty members are nationally- renowned in their respective fields.

Scholarship winners may also bring other family members at their own expense and are encouraged to bring children since the Family Nature Summit youth programs are an integral and valued part of what we offer.
